

STREETCHILD

Sunday, 2010

Mother's Day, May 11

Fifteen-year-old Rosalina is from a small town in the Amazon jungle of Peru. She was sent to the city of Lima to work as a housekeeper, far from her family and familiar surroundings. In the home where she was working she was assaulted and became pregnant. Even in the midst of her trauma, God was providing for Rosalina and her child.

André was born in June 2009 and only 12 days later he arrived with his mother at Casa de la Gloria (House of Glory), a new ministry begun by MTW missionaries and the Luz de Vida (Light of Life) church. André was not a healthy child and Rosalina arrived at the home a bewildered and frightened young mother.

At Casa de la Gloria they found love and security. After many months André is now a happy and healthy infant. Rosalina struggled to bond with her son but now she knows a heavenly Father who redeemed her and has a wonderful plan for her and her child. In September Rosalina became a Christian and André was baptized at the Luz de Vida church as a covenant child.

Rosalina is growing as a mother each day, learning to value the gift she has received and the privilege of passing covenantal blessings to a new generation.

With projects in Latin America, Africa, Asia, and India, Mission to the World's StreetChild International ministers through national churches to abandoned, abused, homeless, and at-risk children. Through God's grace we especially seek to break the cycle of sin and dysfunction that inflicts children like Rosalina and successive generations.

Thank you for prayerfully remembering the needs of at-risk children around the world and the ministry of Street Child International. Visit us at streetchildinternational.org for more information.
